

Vacancy 400/5060

Improvement Manager, Operations, Nelson

Do you have a background in business improvement, have outstanding people skills and get excited about achieving results through working with others to develop innovative ideas?

This role supports the Director, Operations, Northern South Island to work across the entire Region with a focus on increasing our effectiveness and efficiency.

We are keen to hear from you if you have:

- Considerable experience in business improvement (systems and processes), quality assurance and developing and sharing best practise
- Excellent leadership and people skills
- A drive for achieving results through collaboration and coordination
- The ability to apply a high-level overview and strategic thinking around the work of conservation
- A talent for continuous improvement and developing innovative ideas
- Strong relationship building skills
- A passion to inspire and deliver more conservation in New Zealand.

Your experience in business improvement (systems and processes) and developing best practise, leadership and strong relationship management and collaboration skills, will enable you to work with a range of teams. You will support the Director, Operations to grow and improve Conservation initiatives across the top of the South Island.

Internally, you will turn your talents to continuous improvement to lift efficiency and effectiveness. You will be part of a network of nine Improvement Managers across the country to support a wider strategic context for continuous improvement within the Region and across other Regions.

This is an exciting role where you have an opportunity to significantly contribute to growing conservation.

Please apply online. Applications must include a cover letter, CV and evidence of the required capabilities as per the role description.
